Reference List Example: Journal Article

Author
 Giacomini, M., & Rule, N. O. date (2019). Article title Eyebrows cue grandiose narcissism.
Journal Title Journal of Personality, vol.(issue) 87(2), pages 373-385.

In-text Citation Example

While Vazire et al. (2008) found that accurate judgments of narcissism can be made based on perceptions of others' facial features, Giacomini and Rule (2019) found that the accuracy of such judgments depends primarily on perceptions of others' eyebrows. Distinctiveness played a key role in these judgments, but determining the role played by grooming and/or adornment requires future research.

Quick Style Tips

- Mention differences of race, gender, etc. only if relevant.
- When using relevant descriptive details, be specific:
 - not specific: at-risk children
 - specific: children at risk for flu
- Be mindful of recommendations for verb tense in each section of your paper, e.g., in a literature review, use the simple past or present perfect:
